

Scientists 95% Of Way Toward No-Fallout H-Bomb

PROGRESS REPORT IS OFFERED ... To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pleased group of American scientists reported Monday they have gone about 95 per cent of the way toward a "clean" hydrogen bomb—one virtually free of radioactive fallout.

In warfare this would mean the awful power of an H-bomb could be confined to the target area, with a minimum of risk to civilian populations elsewhere in the country under attack and its neighbors.

Three university of California physicists visited the White House Monday with Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to tell President Eisenhower about the progress of their work.

Beyond Nine-Tenths

Strauss told newsmen afterwards that the scientists have gone beyond the point reported by Eisenhower June 5 when he said fallout had been reduced by nine-tenths from that of the earliest H-bombs.

"By the time he made that statement, we had gone about half the way to ten-tenths," the AEC chief said.

Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, one of the physicists, nodded when asked whether it is now possible to make a clean H-bomb.

The other scientists were Dr. Mark M. Mills and Dr. Edward Teller, who work with Lawrence in the University of California's radiation laboratory.

They all seemed to be gratified with the reported success in harnessing the death and destruction of nuclear weapons. When the H-bomb was first developed, military men said the radioactive cloud from its explosion could drift across continents, endangering people thousands of miles away.

Restrictions

Security restrictions prevented a full discussion of what the scientists have accomplished.

When a reporter asked whether this country is not actually making clean fusion weapons, Strauss intervened, saying the answer was classified, or secret.

Strauss also cut off another question to Teller. It was whether a moratorium on nuclear weapons testing, such as that being discussed at the London disarmament conference, would hamper progress toward producing cleaner weapons.

Strauss said the question couldn't be answered because it might hinder the disarmament negotiations.

Some scientists contend the radioactive fallout from test explosions, swirling around the world, may rise to the point of causing bone cancer and genetic changes and affecting the survival of the human race.

Some of these men believe the danger point already has been reached.

They Say "Negligible"

But the three University of California scientists were emphatic in stating that all the H-bomb tests to date have produced "negligible" and harmless quantities of radioactivity.

When asked why some distinguished scientists have sounded warnings about the buildup of radioactivity from weapons testing, Lawrence replied: "I just don't understand it."

Teller said the group informed the President about technical developments without going into policy questions such as a discontinuance of testing.

He said they told Eisenhower "what we hope and plan to accomplish in the coming year, if we continue to work."

Reporters pounced on this last phrase, but Teller only said with a smile: "The future is even more classified than the past."

Lawrence, asked whether he thought weapons tests should be continued, replied, "Of course."

Strauss and his companions put their heads together briefly when asked whether the United States

Chinese Bombard Quemoy

... Spurs Invasion Talk

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China's artillerymen and Nationalist gunner guarding the Quemoy Islands fought Monday their biggest battle of a vest pocket war now in its third year.

Reviving speculation that the Communists might attempt invasion, mainland batteries hurled shell after shell at Quemoy and its sister islands, fortified strongholds in Formosa Strait a few thousand yards offshore.

Veteran Nationalist troops returned the fire vigorously from sand-bagged gun emplacements dotting the reddish croplands and white hills of Quemoy, home to 50,000 Nationalist farmers and fishermen.

The Nationalist defense ministry announced the Reds fired a total of 9,395 shells in an exchange that lasted from 10:30 a.m. until nightfall. Details on the Nationalist counterfire, usually more than measure for measure, were not disclosed.

There was no announcement as to casualties.

It is possible the bombardment Monday was intended to test American reaction, so the Communists could judge how far they can go.

House Members Said Laying Plans For Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Andrews (D-Ala.) and Mason (R-Ill.) said Monday that a group of House members are laying plans to bring about the impeachment of members of the Supreme Court.

"We are getting one of the best lawyers in America to prepare an impeachment resolution against all members of the high court," Andrews told a reporter.

In a separate interview Mason confirmed this.

"I don't want to mention any names of House members or give the name of the lawyer but it is true we are working on an impeachment resolution," he said.

In impeachment proceedings, the House must vote the impeachment while the Senate serves as the jury in any impeachment trial.

Many southern members of Congress and some from other areas have been incensed by some of the court's decisions in recent months and years. Southerners objected to the school integration decision three years ago while southerners, and others have found fault with later decisions which they contend favor Communists and reject state rights.

Lawrence, asked whether he would continue to keep "dirty" weapons in its atomic arsenal as well as clean ones. Then they decided not to answer.

Charges Dropped

HONOLULU, T.H. (AP) — Two Japanese midshipmen charged with breaking a pawn shop window were turned over to their own officers instead of being prosecuted in civil court.

Charges against the pair were dropped in District Court and $25 bail refunded under an agreement between the American military commands and Honolulu law enforcement officials.

Republicans Chosen For Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) Monday named three Republicans to a stand-by Senate observer team for the London disarmament talks. Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) balked at choosing three Democrats at this time.

Secretary of State Dulles had asked the two Senate leaders on Friday to choose senators for a mission to join the London talks if this becomes "desirable."

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, informed Dulles he will name to the six-man delegation if the administration decides their presence at the talks "is essential."

Meanwhile, Johnson urged that the secretary keep the full 12-member Senate Disarmament subcommittee continuously and fully informed on the disarmament negotiations.

Three Named

Knowland, the Republican Senate leader, chose for the GOP members of the team Sens. Wiley (Wis.), Hickenlooper (Iowa) and Saltonstall (Mass.).

Johnson, in a letter to Dulles, wrote:

"When and if you and the President deem it essential that senators be assigned to travel to London to serve as observers, and in a consultative capacity, I will designate members to perform in that capacity."

Johnson's letter was read to the Senate by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), acting as party leader in the absence of Johnson, who is in Texas.

Informed sources said Johnson is expected to pick for the assignment Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), Pastore (D-R.I.) and Symington (D-Mo.).

The ministry said Col. Domingo Valle and several other men were arrested.

Governors Split Sharply On Federal Aid

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Forty-five Democratic and Republican governors attending the National governor's conference split sharply Monday on the issue of federal aid to education.

Governors willing to comment divided on the issue. GOP Gov. William Stratton of Illinois took the lead among those opposing federal aid and Democratic G. Mennen Williams of Michigan was in the forefront of those supporting it.

Stratton told the conference Illinois is spending about 500 million dollars a year in state funds on educational projects. He said the state has set up a 10-million dollar fund for assistance to school districts that have difficulty selling improvement bonds.

Called "Lot of Rot"

Williams said he thinks that probably a majority of the governors opposes federal aid in this field.

"There is a reactionary viewpoint represented here," he said. "I don't understand it. Federal aid to education in some form has been going on for years. It is a lot of rot to say that the federal government would control education if it made school construction funds available."

Nevertheless, Republican Gov. Joe Foss of South Dakota said he is opposed to federal government entry into this field.

Democratic Gov. Stephen L. McNichols of Colorado said, however, that his state is not going to be able to handle locally the problem of providing classrooms and of giving teachers pay increases.

Gov. Williams summarized the major suggestions made at the round table on education as being three in number: (1) Summer school for all pupils to make greater use of classroom space, (2) Staggered terms throughout the 12-month period, so that one-fourth of the students would be on vacation at any given time, and (3) use of summer schools used for gifted children, for retarded children and for adults.

A-Bomb Blasts Desert

... Biggest In Series

By CHET SOBSEY

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) — The fifth and mightiest atom bomb of the current test series exploded with spectacular and hellish fury high above the Nevada desert test site Monday.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists 14 miles away triggered the explosion at 6:30 a.m. (PDT) from a helium-filled balloon anchored 70 feet above the desert floor.

Shock waves from the tremendous blast ripped at the steel and concrete control center, tearing the swinging interior doors from their hinges and cracking the cement wall at one entrance.

The AEC, which had named the shot "Priscilla," described its force as above "nominal," meaning more powerful than the A-bombs which devastated Hiroshima and Nagasaki during World War II.

Those bombs carried explosive force equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT.

Blinding Flash

Observers on Angel's Peak, mountain top 40 miles from the target area, said Monday's detonation was followed by a blinding flash far more brilliant than the early morning sun.

The onlookers reported the flash evolved into an eerie twin fireball that churned like a fiendish hourglass with two vast globes of flame connected by a fiery stem.

The AEC said the shock waves from the blast were felt "very sharply" at the control point and that they continued like the rumblings of an earthquake for some time.

Heard For 300 Miles

The AEC said the blast was "heard as a rumble in Tonopah, Nev., 100 miles north, and at Reno 300 miles away."

Hours after the explosion, two huge trailing radioactive clouds were reported drifting north of Las Vegas at very high altitudes — between 40,000 and 50,000 feet — approximately 100 miles from the test site.

A spokesman said "no particular amount of fallout" was anticipated and that the cloud contained "very low levels" of radioactive substance.

Mamas Kept Busy

WAKAJIMA, Japan (AP) — Japan's female sea divers, 800 strong, have staged their annual invasion of Hekura Island 30 miles from here. Ferried by fishing boats, they took along their children, household goods, cats, dogs and chickens. The women make their living diving for abalone and other marine life from June to September.

Galbraith Going On Trial In Death Of 2nd In Family

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Ben T. Galbraith, former McAlester physician who now is an inmate at the State Penitentiary, goes on trial for his life again Tuesday.

The 35-year-old heart specialist already has been convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment for killing his wife March 19, 1955.

He is charged now with the slaying of his youngest son Jere, 5. Two other children, Drank, 8, and Sarah Ann, 4, also were found dead in the flaming ruins of their fashionable home.

Galbraith admitted beating his attractive wife Mary Catherine into unconsciousness and injecting her and the three children with insecticide. He said he then set the house afire.

Galbraith said last week he is reconciled to whatever the jury decides, adding he had expected to get the death sentence after his first conviction.

U.S. Rockets Will Probe Sun Eruptions

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — The Navy said Monday it will launch this nation's International Geophysical Year rocket program July 1 with a series of firings to study eruptions on the sun.

Fourteen firings are scheduled from San Nicolas Island, which is offshore from the Navy's air missile Test Center here, and each will be dependent upon appropriate weather.

The geophysical year is actually an 18-month period during which scientists of 62 nations conduct experiments and studies to learn more about the earth and universe.

The southern California rocket firings, to continue for two or three months, will study the tremendous eruptions near sun spots. These so called "flares" interfere with radio broadcasts.

The rockets, combinations of a Deacon rocket with a Nike booster, are designed to carry ultraviolet and X-ray detectors 80 miles high and transmit telemetered data back to earth for a three-minute period.

The Navy said that because a flare reaches peak brilliance within minutes, rockets must be fired with no advance warning. The Point Mugu range has permission to fire with no more than one minute's clearance during most of the day.

The studies are expected to provide new information about the distribution of energy within the flares, and the processes by which the flares cause disturbances in the earth's ionosphere. This is a blanket of electrified air 50 miles high. During flareups shortwave and broadcast transmissions are blacked out but long waves become abnormally enhanced.

4 Airmen Killed Near Norfolk, Va.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Four Navy airmen were killed Monday before the eyes of thousands of swimmers when two attack bombers collided in flight and plunged into Chesapeake Bay.

The two North American AJ Savage bombers from the Norfolk Naval Air Station were on routine training flights when they collided at about 500 feet about a mile and a half off Ocean View Park fishing pier.

Identification of the dead was withheld by the Navy pending notification of next of kin.

Eyewitnesses said the two big planes appeared to strike, clanging and "sort of bounce apart" before plunging "almost straight down" into the waters off Ebbtide Beach.

No parachutes were spotted and no bodies were immediately recovered.

An unofficial, but authoritative, source said one of the bombers had reported landing gear trouble and the pilot had indicated he would fly around the bay area to test the gear and to reduce his fuel supply. The pilot of the second plane was reported to have offered to give assistance, probably by a visual inspection of the landing gear.

'Man Without A Country' Would Work For Uncle Sam But Won't Come Back To Prison

...Stays In Self Imposed Exile

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — "I would work the rest of my life for Uncle Sam, but I won't lay myself open to a prison sentence."

With these words, Edward W. Curd, former Kentucky bookmaker and "man without a country," explained why he has remained in self-imposed exile from the United States for five years, refusing to go back to face a criminal income tax indictment.

"I paid the government a $277,000 jeopardy assessment for income tax evasion and penalties," the lean, graying Kentuckian said in an interview on the lawn of his oceanfront hotel.

"Now they say there's another $30,000 charge. I feel that it's a case of double jeopardy."

"Why should I go back? To face justice? It's not justice — not in my mind."

Still Fugitive
An Internal Revenue Service spokesman in Washington said Curd is still listed as a fugitive, and added:

"We would like to bring him to trial."

Curd's name vaulted into the headlines and sent the income tax people scurrying to their records when Frank Costello told the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating Committee he "placed a bet now and then with my friend, Ed Curd."

The tax men soon came up with the jeopardy assessment. Curd says he had to sell his 340-acre farm near Lexington and borrow $15,000 from his mother to pay off.

Then he went to Canada on vacation. While he was there, a federal grand jury in Louisville indicted him for another $30,000 in tax evasion from 1947 to 1952. Curd didn't go back.

Since then, a lonesome, somewhat bitter man, he has shifted from one foreign country to another, all the while longing for closer association with his 14-year-old son and his 83-year-old mother in Lexington.

Hated Cold

He lived in Canada four years but hated the cold climate. Then he moved to Cuba but found it too hot politically. He considers the Bahamas an ideal home.

"I have no plans to leave," he said. "For the first time in years, I'm enjoying myself without the interferences of business. I'm just going to take things in stride."

"I hate the word gambler — it makes me sick at my stomach," he said. "I don't even know how to play bridge. I consider myself a sports handicapper and bettor."

"When you work 16 or 18 hours a day figuring the elements involved in a football game or horse race or baseball game, it's not just simple gambling. That's handicapping. About that I have no regrets whatsoever."

Curd's son, Edward Jr., recently completed his school term at New Lexington, Ohio, and joined his father here. A polite, bright-eyed lad, he likes fishing, skindiving and the many other interesting sports a boy can enjoy in these tropic islands.

But Curd isn't happy in his exile of palm trees and balmy breezes. That becomes evident in his eagerness to chat, with anyone, about anything. It shows up, too, in his bitter comments about his case.

8 Naval Guards To Trial

'Mistreatment' Charge

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The commanding officer of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station has recommended courts-martial for eight men accused of mistreating prisoners.

Capt. William S. Harris recommended to the commandant of the 6th Naval District at Charleston, S. C., that four men be tried by a general court-martial on charges of mistreating prisoners, negligence or dereliction of duty in failure to report such mistreatment.

To the commanding officer of the Marine barracks at the station here, he recommended that three men be tried by special courts-martial and one by summary court-martial.

A probe of conditions at the NAS brig (jail) was ordered by Harris March 14 after reports of prisoners' mistreatment came to his attention.

On March 15 the entire guard force at the brig was replaced to insure that each prisoner would testify without fear of reprisal.

All available persons who were confined at the brig during the period from Feb. 1, 1957, to March 15, 1957 were questioned during an investigation. The witnesses told of various incidents of mistreatment in the form of imposition of excessive exercise and striking and slapping prisoners.

There was no testimony to indicate permanent injury to any prisoner, Harris said.

U.S. URGES UNCENSORED TV, RADIC CONTACT WITH RUSS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States urged Russia Monday to allow Soviet and American leaders to speak directly to each other in a series of uncensored radio and television programs.

The State Department made the proposal to Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin in a formal note as part of its program of promoting more East-West contacts.

Free Exchange
"The purpose of these broadcasts would be to promote a freer exchange of information and ideas on world developments," the note explained.

Apart from its foreign policy aim, the State Department move also seemed partly directed at pacifying Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.). Johnson proposed precisely such an exchange of Soviet-American broadcasts and telecasts in a New York speech June 8. He said it would replace

Beck Reappoints Brewster Head Of West Teamsters

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (INS) — Frank W. Brewster Monday was reappointed chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters by International President Dave Beck.

Both men are under fire as a result of the Senate Rackets Committee investigation which has revealed their alleged mishandling of union funds.

Brewster's reappointment was announced in a letter from Beck read at the Western Conference's annual meeting in San Diego.

The letter was read to the more than 550 delegates from 11 western states, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii by John M. Anhand, president of the Southern California Joint Council of Teamsters 42.

A deafening ovation greeted the reading of Beck's letter.

Observers said Brewster's reappointment virtually nullified any move to oust him and make the conference chairmanship an elective office.

A change in the Teamsters' International constitution would have been necessary to make the office elective.

Beck's letter reiterated his previously stated intention of not seeking the union's general presidency again in September. Beck's misdeeds touching upon his current difficulties implored:

"Do not judge me except as you would be judged. I cannot go along with those who pre-judge our fellow man."

Daughter To Wed

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Margaret O'Brien, 23-year-old daughter of film star Pat O'Brien and Maximilian David Garten, a public school teacher, obtained a license to wed.

The two will marry Saturday at St. Martin of Tours Catholic Church in Brentwood.

the "Iron Curtain" with an "Open Curtain."

Secretary of State Dulles, in commenting on Johnson's proposal three days later, in effect charged the senator with "adopting" as his own an administration proposal presented to the Russians at a foreign ministers conference in Geneva in November, 1955. Dulles welcomed Johnson's "endorsement" of the idea.

Col. Nickerson Court-Martial Begins Today

... Army Missile Case

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Army Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. said bitterly Monday night — on the eve of his court-martial — that it would have been "disloyal" if he had not challenged a Defense Department order limiting the range of Army guided missiles.

At the same time Nickerson denied that he had deliberately sought his own arrest and trial in order to focus national attention on the whole missile program.

The 41-year-old Nickerson faces 18 charges of espionage, perjury and disobedience of orders.

The lean colonel will lay his 23 years in the military service — 11 as a rocket expert — before a 10-man court-martial board Tuesday.

If convicted on all counts, Nickerson, a 1938 graduate of West Point, could be imprisoned for 46 years, suffer a dishonorable discharge and be fined $10,000.

In a brief interview, Nickerson told reporters, "My goal ... has been to obtain permission for the Army to use the intermediate range (1,500 mile) ballistic missile."

Nickerson, a brilliant mathematician, was visibly angry over the espionage charge. He told reporters "the most disloyal thing you could do would be to fail to bring to the attention of a superior a serious error and try to persuade him to change his mind. Anything short of that would be disloyal."

GI, Japanese Fiancee Appeal Death Sentences

TOKYO (Tuesday) (INS) — A hearing on the appeal of an American soldier and his Japanese fiancée from death sentences began Monday in the Sendai Appellate Court. Pvt. O. L. Boone and Shigeko Sasaki had been convicted of slaying a Japanese woman during a robbery.

Boone was the first GI to receive a Japanese death sentence since the signing of the "status of forces" agreement giving Japan the right to try U. S. servicemen for crimes committed outside American military reservations or while on duty.

He testified before the House Post Office Committee.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) read into the record a letter, dated June 14, from Eisenhower telling Murray he could not recommend the pay increases.

Eisenhower said "general pay increases at this time would seriously impede our progress" toward making payments on the national debt and "an eventual tax reduction for everyone."

Israel Nurse, 21, Killed In Shooting

TEL AVIV (INS) — A military spokesman said a 21-year-old Israeli nurse was killed by Syrian machinegun fire near the Mishmar Hayarden settlement in the Lake Hula area of northern Israel.

The spokesman said the Syrians opened fire across the armistice line and Israeli police and settlers returned the fire.

The nurse was wounded in the battle, the spokesman said, and died on the way to the hospital.

(An Army spokesman in Damascus said a Syrian soldier was wounded in the exchange. He charged the Israelis fired first.)

Kansas Car Thief Turns Himself In

A 24-year-old St. Joseph, Mo., man turned himself in at Nebraska Safety Patrol headquarters at Lincoln and told troopers what he had done.

The man told Trooper Lynn Parks that he had stolen a 32-caliber pistol at St. Joseph and a car just outside Lawrence, Kan.

He said he had hitchhiked a ride from Kansas City to Lawrence, where just outside the town he pulled the gun on a motorist and took his car.

From there he drove into Lincoln and later found his way to Safety Patrol headquarters where he surrendered himself to Radio Operator Jerry Nelson.

Patrol Capt. Dan Casey said the man had waived extradition and Lawrence, Kan., authorities were on their way to Lincoln to pick him up.

'Most Dangerous'

BRAZZAVILLE, French Africa (INS) — Adlai Stevenson quoted Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Nobel Prize winner, as saying that the present nuclear age is "the most dangerous" in history.

The former Democratic presidential candidate visited Schweitzer at his Lambarene Hospital. Stevenson reported that the philosopher-scientist told him man's ability to harness nature creates new perils.

There is a little bar just forward of the dining room on the Rhine steamers. And in the middle of it a lady stood weeping as though her heart would break.

"Pay no attention to her," said the British tour conductor. He did not bother to lower his voice, though she stood only five feet away. "She can jolly well shut it off."

"Why is she crying?" "Because she cannot get a seat. They sold 1000 more tickets on the steamer than they had room for. I can't manufacture seats, silly woman."

The lady peeked around over her fur collar and moaned pitifully.

The British tour conductor looked at her coldly and drank his beer. He had a good seat.

We boarded the Rhine steamer at Wiesbaden early in the morning. The upper deck already was stacked deep in chairs at the rail. Hundreds of people were standing. It was a three-day holiday in Germany and all Germany was traveling.

They sang songs and snapped the suspenders on their short leather pants. They waved to everybody on the bank and drank gallons of German beer.

I boarded with the eight ladies of my tour. They stood forlornly on the crowded deck and waited for me to do something.

"You must learn to let them stand, old boy," said the British tour conductor. "Here I am with 22 South African women, all without chairs. I simply turned them loose and found myself a seat."

He was a sporty looking gent. A little frayed around the edges and especially the cuffs of his shirt. But he said he was doing the tour only as a lark.

"For a friend of mine who runs the travel agency in London. Same club. Same regiment. Couldn't let old Freddie down now, could I?"

I am a soft-hearted tour conductor. I went below and collared the car steward. I showed him 10 marks and he looked interested.

"I wish seats for eight American ladies. The whole trip."

"The bar is not reserved."

"Could it be reserved?" I showed five more marks.

"It is difficult. Very difficult. Against the regulations."

Five Frenchmen came in and ordered service. I handed the bar steward 10 more marks. He pocketed * and began to issue orders.

"The bar is reserved," he told the Frenchmen. "A diplomatic party."

My tour ladies rode the plush all the way down the Rhine.

"Alles ist reserviert," he cried at the people who tried to muscle in. "Verboten to enter." He brought German beer and German sausage. Blood sausage, liverwurst, cheese, Niersteiner wines from the vines that reach up the high hills of the Rhine.

We floated along past the Mouse Tower and the Lorelei. The weeping lady touched the heart of a gentleman in the corner. He got up and gave her his seat. Her tears dried. The British conductor shot his frayed cuffs and intimated that he was a wealthy second son of a noble family.

"Wouldn't have touched the tour except for old Freddie," he said. "Pleaded with me to be a good chap. Said I would. But, by Jove, they have too find their own places. Cawn't manufacture chairs on the Rhine, now can I?"

TERRY FILES FOR RE-ELECTION

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter Monday became the second Nebraskan to file for nomination and election in 1958.

Carpenter filed with the secretary of state for re-election as legislator from the 42nd Unicameral District.

Only previous filing came from Merle Haynes of South Sioux City, Republican candidate for nomination to Congress from the Third Nebraska District.

Council Votes To Cool Meeting Room

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council has voted six to one in favor of air conditioning of the council chambers in the City Hall.

Mayor Bennett Martin voted against the estimated $630 improvement.

Law Passes; Registration Must Be Visible

An ordinance requiring auto registration certificates to be plainly visible from within the driver's compartment of the car has been passed by the City Council on third and final reading.

Police Capt. Orrin Graves told the Council the law does not require that the certificates be visible from outside the car or that the name on the certificate can be seen from outside.

Purpose of the law is to permit officers, in issuing parking tickets, to copy the name of the car owner. This saves the Police Department's office staff from looking up the car owner's name in the registration records.

In many cases, Capt. Graves said, the name on the certificate will be visible from outside the car. In other cases, he said, it will be necessary for the officer to open the car door and examine the certificate to obtain the name.

In cases where the car is locked and the name on the certificate cannot be read from the outside there would be no violation and the name would be looked up at the Police Department.

BUDDY PLAN FATE MAY BE SEEN MONDAY

A final decision might be made next Monday by the City Council on the partial integration of the fire and police departments now being tried on an experimental basis.

Councilman Joseph E. Fenton has been appointed to succeed former Councilman Ray Osborn on the city's integration study committee. A final report of this committee is expected to be made to the Council by next Monday.

This report will probably be the basis for the Council's decision.

59 From Fairbury High Class Of '30 Attend Festivities

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY — Fifty-eight out of 109 original members of the 1930 graduating class of Fairbury High School, representing 11 different states, gathered here for a class reunion.

All of the original class officers attended the two day festivities, including Sid Hellman of Kearney, president; Melvin Rasse of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Lyle Hans of Lincoln, vice presidents; Mrs. Ann Kelly of Lincoln and Dr. W. G. Peterson of Albuquerque, N. Mex., secretaries, and Mrs. Max Denney of Arlington, Va., treasurer.

Hellman served as toastmaster of the banquet.

Dr. Burdett D. Morris and Ronald Hoffman — both of Portland, Ore. — had the distinction of coming the longest distance.

An informal reception for the alumni and the present high school faculty was held in the high school.

Mrs. George H. Bailey of Fairbury was general chairman of the event.

3 Killed As Truck Spills Eight-Ton Load Over Auto

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Two of three boy hitchhikers and a rural Duluth man were killed late Monday when their car collided with a truck, spilling part of eight tons of hot bituminous paving material over their wrecked station wagon.

Wilbur V. Curtis, 31, and Jeff Hudson, 12, were crushed in the wreckage of the car and were dead at the scene. Jerry Schinn, 11, died shortly after in a hospital.

A third passenger, Robert Withrow, 14, also of rural Duluth, was sitting in a part of the station wagon that escaped the crushing weight of the truck. He suffered only minor injuries. Rudolph Poukka of nearby Proctor, the truck driver, was unhurt.

Police said the three boys had hitchhiked a ride home from swimming in Curtis' car.

Mora Escapes

HAVANA (INS) — Candido Mora, a member of the Cuban House of Representatives, escaped an attempt on his life.

His chauffeur, Antonio Rodriguez, was killed by machinegun slugs fired from a passing car. Mora was not hit.

Mora is a member of President Fulgencio Batista's Progressive Action party. His brother, Menelao Mora, was killed while tracking the Presidential palace last March 13.

Two Proposed Zone Changes Fail At Council

The only two proposed zoning changes before the City Council went down to defeat on third and final reading.

With all members of the Council present, the decision was unanimous against a change from single to two-family residential zoning at 49th and Sumner.

Only Councilman Joseph E. Fenton voted in favor of a proposed change from single family to local business zoning at the southwest corner of 48th and Pioneers. Councilman Pat Ash passed on voting because of his ownership of nearby property.

Other ordinance action:

Final Approval

Removing from second fire zone and placing in third zone the north half of the block between O and P from 21st to 23rd and the property from Aylesworth to Colby between Colner and 68th.

Amendment to the building code to permit studs not over eight feet high in single story structures to be spaced at 24-inch intervals.

Introduced

Amendment to ordinance to bring city law on legal notices in conformity with state law.

Paving district on Gladstone, 48th to 52nd.

Paving district on 56th, Randolph to A.

Change in zoning from residential to commercial at 48th and Calvert.

$3,500 Sought In Injury Suit

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb. —A civil suit asking $3,500 damages has been filed by Robert Grote, 18, of Beatrice against Richard Engler, also of Beatrice.

According to the suit, Grote received permanent injuries as a result of an assault upon his person by Engler. Engler was released from the Gage County Jail Sunday after serving a 30-day sentence for the attack on Grote on May 24.

Cops Hook 'Corpse' -End Joker's Fun

A 27-year-old "dead man" was booked in on an open charge Monday night to terminate a practical joke.

The man had smeared catsup over his shirt and then set off a firecracker, police said.

Fellow employees at Tad's Trailer Sales at 10th and Oak heard an explosion and shouts of someone yelling he was shot and immediately called police.

Police searched the trailer lot area for 15 minutes before finding the sheepish joker hiding under a bridge.

Hungarian Exile Leader Requests Early U.N. Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — A top Hungarian exile leader called Monday for an immediate reconvening of the U.N. General Assembly to halt the mass "liquidation" of Hungarian youths and freedom fighters.

Bela Fabian, a member of the Hungarian National Council, told U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge that to "delay" the Special Assembly until September might make it "too late" to give the Hungarian people any help against the ruthless murder campaign of Russia now in full swing.

World diplomats believe that the shock felt throughout the free world at the revelations in the U.N. report of mass deportations and murders in Hungary will force an early meeting of the 81-nation forum.

Fabian's letter to Lodge charged the Russians are "liquidating the best of our youth." He declared ten to fifteen military persons are "executed" daily on Soviet orders in retaliation for their aid to the Hungarian freedom fighters.

Fabian declared his group had evidence that deportation of Hungarians to Russian slave-labor camps had increased from 35,000 to 51,000 in one month. He added that "the prisons and the recently re-opened concentration camps are crowded."

Greek-American Group Told Past Deeds, Future Challenges

V. I. Chebithes, past supreme president of the Order of Ahepa, spoke to more than 200 delegates to the Greek-American group's district convention in Lincoln on the past accomplishments and the future challenges facing them.

"It is our responsibility to perpetuate and to give to the world the highest ideas and ideals and the noblest attributes of the Hellenic peoples," Chebithes said Monday evening.

He reminded the delegates that the Greek peoples were the 1st of the Europeans to come to the United States, but that they had "earned their rights to U.S. citizenship by their heroism in the World Wars."

Purpose Served

Ahepa, formed as the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association, as an Americanization program for Greeks, has now served its primary purpose, the national officer said.

"Our job now is to help our young people to understand that they have a duty to perform—to perpetuate the ideas traditions and religion of Greece in the United States as our contribution to this country," he said.

Other speakers at the dinner meeting closing the third day's sessions of the four-state convention, included Lucille La Reese, district governor of the Ahepa sister organization, Daughters of Penelope. She reported "giant strides" by the women's group in organization and membership and announced the Omaha chapter as winner of the gold cup for philanthropic work.

Coming Leaders

Evelyn Semos, grand governor of the Daughters of Penelope, reminded the audience that their sons and daughters were the coming leaders of the Greek organizations and must be aware of their responsibilities.

Also addressing the evening meeting were ex-Governor Robert B. Crosby of Lincoln, welcoming the delegates; William G. Nicas of Omaha, district governor of Ahepa, District 15, and George E. Loucas, past supreme counsellor of Ahepa.

At final business sessions Tuesday, Ahepas and Daughters of Penelope will conclude their convention business and elect new officers. Joint installation of officers will be held Tuesday evening.

Consumers is entirely SELF-SUPPORTING

Although Consumers Public Power District is a public institution, it has never received one cent of state, federal or local tax money in loans, grants or any other subsidies.

Consumers financed the acquisition of its properties, amounting to $44,425,000 entirely through the sale of revenue bonds to private investors—bonds which are payable only out of the District's earnings—not out of tax funds.

Subsequent additions and improvements to the system have amounted to $47,000,000, of which more than $31,000,000 has been paid out of earnings. At the same time, Consumers has made rate reductions which have saved its customers a total of more than $21,000,000.

MARINES TO TAKE PART IN NUCLEAR TESTS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) — The AEC announced Monday that a new concept of warfare will be demonstrated at the sixth nuclear test series — "Operation Plumbob" — scheduled for Thursday at dawn.

A force of 1,000 members of the famed First Marine Division will participate in a combined helicopter and mechanized maneuver to seize a target.

The AEC said the advent of the atom bomb has made large concentrations of troops and materials impossible, although no new weapons yet can make military operations "absolute" in their result.

"Great Mobility"

In view of this, the AEC reported, this complex exercise, to be watched by newsmen and other observers, will demonstrate a "vertical envelopment" maneuver which provides the Marines with "great mobility and freedom of action" along with "increased fire power and greatly improved reconnaissance capabilities."

The Second Battalion of the Fifth Marine Regiment will form the nucleus of the troops participating.

The group will utilize four reinforced rifle companies, a battery of artillery and also jet aircraft which the AEC said will form a protective cover, firing a "deadly softening-up" display of fire power against the target.

The jets will fly from the Marine Air Base at Mojave, Calif., 30 minutes away from the Nevada desert test site.

The AEC disclosed that the ground objective, for safety reasons, will be situated some distance from the "ground zero" point of the atomic blast.

Atomic scientists said the exploding nuclear device will be below "nominal," or somewhat smaller than the equivalent of the 20,000-ton TNT impact which leveled Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

In Trenches

All but one company of the Fourth Marine Corps "provisional atomic exercise brigade" will be in trenches "relatively near" to ground zero.

Other Marines will be in a protective position to the rear, ready to board helicopters for the flight to the objective area as soon as radioactive monitoring teams have declared the target safe.

Simultaneous with the helicopter landing operation, a Marine company will clamber from trenches to mount new amphibian tractors—called LDP-38—to launch a separate assault.

Platoon of Ontos

Supporting the tractor vehicles will be a platoon of the Marines' newest anti-tank weapon, the "Ontos."

The helicopters will make two deliveries of their Marine cargoes to separate points from where the attack will be made.

The exercise will conclude with the Marines deploying in a defensive maneuver to hold the captured ground.

The seventh atomic explosion — "above nominal" — is scheduled tentatively for July 1. It will be another open shot, permitting observation by qualified newsmen and certain other observers.

5 Nebraska Math Teachers Take Stanford Program

PALO ALTO, Calif.—Five high school mathematics teachers from Nebraska are among the 50 teachers from 14 western states taking part in a new General Electric-Stanford University summer fellowship program.

They are Miss Margaret Morton of North Platte Senior High School; Duane Perry of Omaha Central High School; Ernest E. Bouska of Odell High School; Clifford B. Cowger, superintendent and instructor at Dodge Public Schools, and Mrs. Suzanne Martin Boyden of Tecumseh High School.

Purpose of the program, the first of its type in the West, is to help teachers improve mathematics instruction and thereby instill greater interest in able students to choose careers in mathematics, science and related technical fields.

Vic Proposes U.S. Help On School Bonds

Gov. Victor E. Anderson, at the 49th annual Governors' Conference at Williamsburg, Va., Monday proposed a system under which the federal government would underwrite local bond issues for school construction.

According to the governor's Lincoln office, the resolution was offered at a roundtable discussion on education and will be proposed also to the conference's resolution committee.

The "underwriting" proposal would be an alternative to the President's program of direct aid, which has run into some opposition.

The underwriting would aid local communities "that lack bonding powers or economic ability to finance school building construction," the resolution said.

The resolution prescribed that the conference designate five governors, representing each of the four regions and one at large, as a committee to prepare and present proposed legislation to Congress carrying out the "underwriting" policy.
